Compassionate Conversation

Craig Newnes is a Consulting Critical Psychologist, psychotherapist and a past chair of the British Psychological Society Psychotherapy Section, a dad, musician, author and garden-er. He was, for over twenty five years the Director of Psychological Therapies in Shropshire's NHS Mental Health Services, an author and editor of numerous books and articles. He has won two Human Rights awards for speaking out on behalf of people oppressed by traditional psychiatry and psychology services. His latest books are Inscription, Diagnosis and Deception in the Mental Health Industry: How Psy governs us all (Palgrave) and A Critical A-Z of Electroshock (Real Press) – described as the “most pro- found examination of how psychology is based on nonsense and psychiatry just hurts people.” For those that know reality is better to be found in literature try his novels, Tearagh't or Paris (Real Press via Amazon). You can Google him.

He offers a local confidential service that will help you change the things that are possi- ble to change and supervision of therapeutic practice. Session fees are based on what people can afford and through barter. Contact him on

Pastoral Letter

In March we expect (hope) to see signs of spring; nesting birds, green shoots... visual reminders of God our Creator at work, which may make us stop and wonder, reflect and ponder.

This March is the time in the church calendar leading up to Easter called Lent, when we think about Jesus, why he came, what his gruesome death is all about and what it means today.

As human beings we have choice; we may not always want it, and since the beginning of time have been making both good and bad choices. These choices affect us as individuals, and collectively, particularly when they relate to the natural world.

As creator of our beautiful world, I believe God grieves over the wrong choices we have made which have damaged us and our surroundings. The Bible tells us about the stupidity, arrogance, selfishness and greediness of human choices through the ages.

Christians call this going against God's will 'sin' and there are many early Bible stories about God's reaction and humans attempting to put things right. Basically, by disobeying God the special loving relationship we were meant to have with Him was broken. (It first happened in the garden of Eden).

The Easter story is about what God did to mend that broken relationship. He knew that we humans couldn't get everything right on our own, so he sent Jesus. When Jesus died, he took all our 'sin', our brokenness, upon himself, offering us a fresh start by rising to new life on the third day.

So, through getting to know Jesus, we can develop a relationship with God, whatever we've done, knowing this relationship will be made perfect in heaven. We need no longer fear that death is the end.

Lent is the time to reflect on this; what Jesus' birth, life on earth, death and resurrection means to each of us and to the wider world. Reflection helps us to reconsider our relationship with Jesus and with God our Father and so to recognize the poor choices we are still making. On Palm Sunday, 5th April this year, we give out palm crosses in church to be taken home and perhaps help us focus our thoughts. So, enjoy this Lent, watch the daffodils come up and ponder on the life of creation, our relationship with it and with its Creator. Adam

Do you love Shrewsbury?

Do you like telling others about it? You could be the perfect town ambassador! Following a successful first year in 2019, we are now looking to recruit volunteers for the Original Shrewsbury Ambassadors 2020 program to help visitors discover the wonderful hidden gems our town has to offer. Ambassadors are active on Saturdays (10am – 2.30pm) and Sundays (11am – 2.30pm) from April to September and there is plenty of flexibility around how much or how little time you are able to give.

Based out of Shrewsbury Museum's Volunteer Hub, with support from the Visitor Information Centre, the aim of the Ambassadors is to provide visitors to Shrewsbury with a warm welcome and a wide range of information, supplying their invaluable local knowledge to help visitors make the most of everything the town has to offer, from independent and national retail, bars, restaurants, pubs, hotels, river attractions, museums, theatre, guided tours and of course the fantastic history of the town.

Town ambassadors will be the face of Shrewsbury, and a very important welcome to the town for visitors. Why not get involved and be part of something special?

The gripping true story of Katharine Gun, whose job at GCHQ involves routine handling of classified information. Until one day on the eve of the Iraq war she receives a memo that reveals a dubious intelligence operation. A woman of principles she feels she can't stand by and watch the world be rushed into an illegal war. She leaks the memo to the press, exposing a vast political conspiracy, and putting herself and her family directly in harm's way. Anchored by a fiery central performance from Keira Knightley, this pacy, powerful, engaging thriller is a pertinent reminder that our world needs everyone to act according to their principles.
